

Hi Families,

We are very excited to share with you the new learning we have started this term.

Writing

This week students have been learning a lot about the writing process, focusing on different ways to brainstorm writing before beginning to write.

Together we identified ways that we like to brainstorm our writing and used a planning capacity matrix to make sure their brainstorms had enough detail to aid the drafting phase. Below are some examples.

Inquiry

We have begun a new inquiry unit on Space Exploration and have some exciting things planned. This week we watched a short clip about The Space Race before beginning a design challenge to design a rocket that travels the longest distance as part of our Morimoto Space Race.
